CMS Wants To Move Providers To Electronic Remittances

If you're not receiving electronic remittance advice (RA) notices, then you could be wasting time and money.

The Centers for Medicare & Medicaid Services wants to make it easy for you to cope with electronic RAs. CMS recently released a guide to understanding RAs and is trying to improve RA codes so that you can track a claim. Next month CMS will offer special software to allow you to print and search electronic RAs, CMS officials disclosed at a Sept. 12 provider town hall meeting.
