Hospice News: Do Your HEAT Compliance Training In Small Pieces

Don't have the time to sit through the nearly fourhour HEAT training session the HHS Office of Inspector General has posted? Now you can divide it up into manageable sessions.

Background: The OIG posted the video from its May 18 Washington, D.C. session of the Health Care Fraud Prevention and Enforcement Action Team compliance training it gave in sold-out sessions in six cities across the country earlier this year.

Now the OIG has posted the video in 16 modules. The shortest is one minute and the longest is 34 minutes. See links to the modules and their titles at <http://go.usa.gov/Dzr>.

Warning: The modules on the OIG site are shown via youtube, so they won't play if your workplace blocks that website.
